August 2016

Hello!

Today, safeguarding financial information, intellectual property, and your company's reputation is a crucial part of business strategy. So....will multiple employees be working with your QuickBooks' company file? If so, you may want to define their access/permission levels.

When you were doing manual bookkeeping, you probably didn't allow every employee to see every sales form, account register or payroll stub. Most likely, you established a system that allowed staff to work only with information that related to their jobs. Even so, there may have been times when, for example, someone pulled the wrong file folder or was sent a report that he or she shouldn't have seen. QuickBooks helps prevent this by setting virtual boundaries. Here's how to set User Permissions

IMPORTANT EMV Update

On August 15, 2016, Intuit will shift fraud liability to all clients using Intuit POS v2013 (v11) and v12. This means you will be liable for any fraudulent activity that may occur.

USING v12: Your software is EMV compliant and covered for any fraud liability.

What Do I Need to Do Next to Be Fully EMV Compliant: (1) VERY IMPORTANT: Accept all software patches BEFORE you install the new EMV ready PIN Pad. Intuit will be sending out new iPP350 pin pads with the updated firmware so you can begin using the new chip/pin technology. (2) Ensure that you install this new EMV iPP350 as soon as it is received. There will be an EMV approved sticker on the new version to distinguish it from the one you are currently using. You will NOT be required to return your old pin pad, and we suggest keeping it as an emergency backup. Note: The Magtek swipe is not EMV compliant and you will need to purchase an approved Pin Pad--contact us at 256-337-5200 for assistance.

NOT USING v12: You will need to upgrade to v12 to be EMV compliant, please call Jerie, 256-337-5200, for a quote. We all know that making a change can be costly, so Intuit is offering 50% off software and 50% off EMV hardware if you upgrade by 9-15-16. Liability for all POS v8, v9, and v10 users will shift on September 15, 2016 to allow you time to upgrade. We encourage you to take advantage of these low prices to become compliant.

What if I am using GoPayment?

If you are also using GoPayment to process payments, Intuit's Upgrade Support team can also assist you with EMV compliance. New devices are being shipped and ready for purchase.

Has Your 2013 QB EXPIRED?

On May 31, 2016, Intuit discontinued support for QuickBooks Financial Pro, Premier, Simple Start 2013, QuickBooks for Mac 2013, and QBES 2013. You can continue to use these solutions, of course, but Intuit live technical support and add-on services like payroll, credit card processing, online banking and bill-pay are no longer accessible. We will continue to support all versions but recommend that you upgrade when you can. Call or click to purchase a new version.
